

Instant traffic and weather sounds like an ideal service. Trying to search thru local radio stations hoping to catch a report between all the mindless garbage they broadcast would be safer and less stressful while driving.